Contour™ Overnight Backpack

Product Description

There’s nothing easy about flying these days. So anything you can do to make getting through security and onto your flight a little bit less stressful can make a big difference. That’s why Kensington developed the checkpoint friendly Contour™ Overnight Backpack. When it comes to flying through the airport security checkpoint, it’s the next best thing to slip-on shoes.

The Kensington Contour Overnight Backpack was designed with TSA rules in mind to allow you to pass through security without having to remove your laptop. Simply unzip the backpack, lay it flat and let it pass through the X-ray machine. The back and sides of your laptop stay fully padded and protected. You certainly can’t say that about those plastic TSA trays! There’s also a built-in liquids pouch that’s also checkpoint friendly and can stay in your backpack. When your Contour Overnight Backpack comes out the other side, give it one quick zip and you’re on your way.

The Contour Backpack is the perfect size for airline travel, making it your go-to bag whether on a quick business trip or overnighter. You’ll find plenty of room for clothes, laptop, presenter and the rest of your business essentials without ever being too bulky for the overhead compartment. And no matter how much gear you pack inside, the padded, contoured shoulder straps will make carrying it a breeze.
